Hail Weather Report: Severe Hailstorms Expected

Our region is currently under the threat of severe hailstorms, which are expected to impact various areas in the coming hours.

A combination of atmospheric instability, strong updrafts, and specific weather patterns has created the conditions conducive to hail formation. Hailstones of varying sizes, including large hailstones, are expected in these storms.

These hailstorms can pose significant risks to property, agriculture, and personal safety. Residents are advised to take precautions by moving vehicles to sheltered areas, securing outdoor objects, and seeking safe shelter indoors as the storms approach.
